Youth VBS June 10— June 14
4:00 p.m. - 5:30 p.m.

Summer is here! Some insist it's shorter than it's ever been and certainly from a child's perspective the time will fly by. School is out but church is very much in! With the coming of summer our opportunities as a church to minister with students of all ages increases exponentially. Vacation Bible School kicks off in just over a week and church summer camping experiences are also scheduled. They are often the highlight of childhood and adolescent memories. I want to encourage parents and grandparents alike to seize these fleeting moments to instill Christian character, biblical values, and love for God and neighbor in the next generation. Of course, families are also on the go- seizing the moment to create memories and find time to relax before the fall routine resumes all too quickly.

This summer Sharon and I plan to welcome the newest addition to our extended family—with the birth of our first granddaughter due in the latter part of June. Of course, we also plan to invest quality time with our four grandsons and will try to create wonderful memories with them at every opportunity we get. One thing is certain: the long days of summer will pass very quickly.

Summer can also be a time to press the reset button. In the biblical order of things that is the concept behind a weekly observance of the Sabbath. The Hebrew children were reminded as the Lord rested so should they. Be sure and find time this summer to pause and cease rushing from one frenetic activity to the next. Some of my favorite childhood memories were spent in our own backyard. Take the time to breathe deeply and sense the divine presence in us and around us. I have found in my experience in babysitting my grandsons there's nothing much worse than a tired toddler- maybe there's truth there for us as well. Rested people are happier people. Take time to rest. Listen for the voice of God in the quiet of the early morning or at the end of a long day at sunset.

Blessings,
Bro. Ron

A Note
From our
Minister of Music

Dear church family,

When the Saints Go Marching In is usually attributed to James M. Black (1856-1938) and Katherine E. Purvis, who died in 1909. Both Black and Purvis were associated with the Methodist Episcopal Church in Williamsport, Pennsylvania.

She was a music teacher at the seminary and he was a song leader and Sunday School teacher who also wrote songs and edited Gospel song books.

Popularized by Louis Armstrong, When the Saints Go Marching In was first recorded by Armstrong on May 13, 1938. The song originated as a 19th century Protestant hymn and remains a message of revelation and redemption. Armstrong had grown up knowing the gospel tune, played somberly for funerals by the marching bands that accompanied the mourners to the graveyard and played joyously on their return. Armstrong's lively recording of the tune, in which he pretends to be a preacher delivering a sermon, transformed it into the jazz standard we know today, closely associated with New Orleans' Dixieland bands. So well known is the song that it is commonly referred to as The Saints. It was so often requested that bands, tired of playing it, charged extra to perform it. An old sign in New Orleans' Preservation Hall advertised: "$1 for standard requests, $2 for unusual requests, and $5 for the Saints."

Up there I'll see the Savior, Who redeemed my soul from sin; With extended hands he'll greet me, When the Saints go marching in.

*In His love,
Amen*
